

WORK FROM HOME POLICY

1. Purpose:

This document contains the terms and conditions for working remotely. It is a guide for both management and the employee and must be signed by the employee to acknowledge they read through and understood the details herein.

This policy aims to ensure sustained productivity, maintain effective communication, and support a healthy work-life balance while working remotely.

2. Rules and regulations.

As per the company policy employees have the option to work from home once a week between Monday to Friday with the prior one-week intimation to the reporting manager. No two work-from-home days shall be scheduled within the same week. Work-from-Home days may be adjusted at the discretion of the Reporting Manager (RM). The company reserves the right to permit extended work-from-home arrangements or revoke the privilege in certain circumstances. Prior approval must be obtained from HR and Senior Management for any exceptions to the standard policy. For employees working on the client site, the work-from-home policy will be governed by the client's internal policy.

3. Working hours

Employees working from home are expected to maintain regular work hours from 9:00 AM to 6:00 PM unless otherwise approved by their reporting manager.

Employees are entitled to breaks during the workday, even when working from home. Employees must follow their assigned work schedule, follow tasks, strive to meet deadlines, uphold high-quality standards, on the work assigned and completed.

4. Communication

Employees must be online and accessible via phone, email, and other designated communication tools during work hours on their work-from-home day. Any correspondence from a co-worker or client must be answered as quickly as possible. They are expected to regularly check-in with the manager/team to maintain workflow. The reporting manager can decide the frequency and method of check-in.

All employees are required to turn on their cameras for all virtual meetings (local or global) while working from home or from the office unless there is a valid reason.

5. Insurance & Liability

Employees working remotely will continue to receive full company benefits, including health insurance, as applicable and when such policies are introduced. Employees are advised to choose a safe and secure location to work from home and maintain high levels of safety.

6. Protection of assets and intellectual property

The company will provide necessary equipment (e.g., laptop, software) for remote work. Employees are responsible for maintaining the security and condition of all company-provided equipment and comply with company data protection and IT security policies.

7. Confidentiality

Employees must maintain the confidentiality of company information and data. Any suspected or actual breaches of confidentiality must be immediately reported to the employee's manager and HR.

8. Compensation and Benefits

Employees will receive the same compensation and benefits as if they were working in the office. All related terms and conditions remain unchanged.

G. Performance Metrics:

Employees are accountable for maintaining the same level of professionalism and commitment to their roles as they would in the office.

Employees working from home will be evaluated based on the same performance metrics and standards. These metrics include, but are not limited to, quality of work, adherence to deadlines, responsiveness, collaboration with team members, and overall productivity.

10. Termination of WFH Agreement

The company reserves the right to terminate or amend the work-from-home agreement at any time.

11. Compliance

Non-compliance with this policy or any related company policies while working from home may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination.
